contain information furnished by another Government agency(ies). You will be advised by the FBI as to the releasability of this information following our consultation with the other agency(ies).

In certain instances, information collected in our field office files is not forwarded to FBI Headquarters. These instances include cases in which the perpetrators of the violations were not identified; cases in which the United States Attorney declined prosecution; and cases in which the allegations were unsubstantiated or not within the jurisdiction of the FBI. If you believe records of interest to you are located in the files of an FBI field office and were not reported to Headquarters, you may write directly to that field office for those materials.

If you know of any other matter in which information concerning you or the subject of your request may have been recorded by the FBI, and can identify the matter in sufficient detail, including the approximate time frame and location, a further search will be made.

Your request for information has been considered in light of the provisions of both the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) (Title 5, United States Code, Section 552) and the Privacy Act (PA) of 1974 (Title 5, United States Code, Section 552a). It has been determined by the Attorney General that requests by individuals seeking information about themselves are governed by the Privacy Act. In addition, as a matter of administrative discretion, any documents which are found to be exempt from disclosure under the Privacy Act are also processed under the provisions of the FOIA. Through these procedures, you receive the greatest degree of access authorized by both laws.

Mr. Edward John Hasbrouck

Based on the information you provided, a search of the index to our electronic surveillance (Elsur) system discloses no information identifiable to you or the organizations you requested.

As you requested during the phone call from FBI Headquarters on February 15, 1985, your requests concerning you and the organizations in your letters dated September 24, 1984, have been forwarded to the Washington Field Office. The Washington Field Office will correspond directly with you concerning any information available.

If you desire a search of our Identification Division records for any arrest record that might pertain to you, please comply with the enclosed instructions set forth in Attorney General Order 556-73. Fingerprint impressions are needed for comparison with records in the Identification Division to insure that an individual's record is not disseminated to an unauthorized person.

Effective January 17, 1983, the combined NCIC-CCH file was discontinued. Information which formerly was contained in the NCIC-CCH file now is maintained in the Identification Division records system. However, to obtain this information you must comply with the attached instructions.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

[Order 556-73]

PART 16—PRODUCTION OR DISCLOSURE OF MATERIAL OR INFORMATION

Subpart C—Production of FBI Identification Records in Response to Written Requests by Subjects Thereof

By order dated September 24, 1973, the Attorney General of the United States directed that the Federal Bureau of Investigation, hereinafter referred to as the FBI, publish rules for the dissemination of arrest and conviction records to the subjects of such records upon request. This order resulted from a determination that 28 U.S.C. 534 does not prohibit the subjects of arrest and conviction records from having access to those records. In accordance with the Attorney General's order, the FBI will release to the subjects of identification records copies of such records upon submission of a written request, satisfactory proof of identity of the person whose identification record is requested and a processing fee of $11.00.

Since the FBI Identification Division is not the source of the data appearing in identification records, and obtains all data thereon from fingerprint cards or related identification forms submitted to the FBI by local, state, and Federal agencies, the responsibility for authentication and correction of such data rests upon the contributing agencies. Therefore, the rules set forth for changing, correcting or updating such data require that the subject of an identification record make application to the original contributing agency in order to correct the deficiency complained of.

The relevant provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553) requiring notice of proposed rule making, opportunity for public participation and delay in effective date are inapplicable because the material contained herein relates to the interpretation of 28 U.S.C. 534 as allowing the granting of an exemption to subjects of identification records and relief of prior administrative restrictions on dissemination of such records to them. Furthermore, it is deemed in the public interest that there be no delay in effective date of availability of identification records to the subjects thereof.

By virtue of the order of the Attorney General, dated September 24, 1973, and pursuant to the authority delegated to the Director, FBI by 28 CFR 0.85(b), Part 16 of 28 CFR Chapter I, is amended by adding the following new Subpart C:

§ 16.30 Purpose and scope.

This subpart contains the regulations of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, hereafter referred to as the FBI, concerning procedures to be followed when the subject of an identification record requests production thereof. It also contains the procedures for obtaining any change, correction or updating of such record.

§ 16.31 Definition of identification record.

An FBI identification record, often referred to as a "rap sheet", is a listing of certain information taken from fingerprint cards submitted to and retained by the FBI in connection with arrests and, in some instances, includes information taken from fingerprint cards submitted in connection with Federal employment, naturalization, or military service. The identification record includes the name of the agency or institution which submitted the fingerprint card to the FBI. If the fingerprint card concerns a criminal offense, the identification record includes the date arrested or received, the arrest charge, and the disposition of the arrest if known to the FBI. All arrest data included in an identification record are obtained from fingerprint cards, disposition reports and other reports submitted by agencies having criminal justice responsibilities. Therefore, the FBI Identification Division is not the source of the arrest data reflected on an identification record.

§ 16.32 Procedure to obtain an identification record.

The subject of an identification record may obtain a copy thereof by submitting a written request via the U.S. mails directly to the FBI, Identification Division, Washington, D.C. 20537, or may present his written request in person during regular business hours to the FBI Identification Division, Room 11262, J. Edgar Hoover Building, Tenth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. Such request must be accompanied by satisfactory proof of identity, which shall consist of name, date and place of birth and a set of rolled-linked fingerprint impressions placed upon fingerprint cards or forms commonly utilized for applicant or law enforcement purposes by law enforcement agencies.

§ 16.33 Fee for production of identification record.

Each written request for production of an identification record must be accompanied by a fee of $11.00 in the form of a certified check or money order, payable to the Treasury of the United States. This fee is established pursuant to the provisions of 31 U.S.C. 3302 and is based upon the clerical time beyond the first quarter hour to be spent in searching for, identifying, and reproducing each identification record requested as specified in § 16.10. Any request for waiver of the fee shall accompany the original request for the identification record and shall include a claim and proof of indigency.

§ 16.34 Procedure to obtain change, correction or updating of identification records.

If, after reviewing his identification record, the subject thereof believes that it is incorrect or incomplete in any respect and wishes changes, corrections or updating of the alleged deficiency, he should make application directly to the agency which contributed the questioned information. The subject of a record may also direct his challenge as to the accuracy or completeness of any entry on his record to the Assistant Director of the FBI Identification Division, Washington, D.C. 20537. The FBI will then forward the challenge to the agency which submitted the data requesting that agency to verify or correct the challenged entry. Upon the receipt of an official communication directly from the agency which contributed the original information, the FBI Identification Division will make any changes necessary in accordance with the information supplied by that agency.

Dear Mr. Hasbrouck:

We have received information that you may be required to register with Selective Service under provision of the Military Selective Service Act, but a check of our records indicates that you have not registered. The purpose of this letter is to check the accuracy of this information. Please understand that we are required by law to refer possible violators of the Military Selective Service Act to the Department of Justice. If a person is convicted of violation of the Act he may be imprisoned for not more than five years or fined not more than $10,000 or both.

Generally, a male who is not already in the active Armed Forces is required to register with Selective Service if he was born in 1960, 1961 or 1962, or if born in 1963 or a later year, within 30 days of his eighteenth (18) birthday. If a person required to register fails to do so because of "some condition beyond his control" he must be able to prove that the "condition not under his control" prevented him from registering. If the "condition" changes he has 30 days to register. Generally, being in prison or confined in a hospital or institution qualifies as a "condition beyond his control."

In order for us to clear our records, and not forward your name to the Department of Justice for investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation you must take one of the following actions:

- o If, as described above, you are required to register and have not already done so, please fill in the enclosed form and mail it to Selective Service in the enclosed envelope.
- o If, as described above, you are required to register but have not already done so because of a continuing "condition beyond your control", please indicate in a letter mailed in the enclosed envelope your reason for your continued non-registration.
- o If, as described above, you are required to register and believe that you have registered, please send us a copy of your Registration Acknowledgement letter (SSS Form 3) or provide us your Selective Service number in the enclosed envelope.

- o If, as described above, you do not believe you are required to register please explain why you feel you do not have to register and provide proof of your status in the enclosed envelope. Proof will vary from case to case but may be a copy of your birth certificate, a DD Form 53 or similar form showing your active duty status in the military, a statement, in English, from the diplomatic agency of the country of which you are a subject explaining why you are not required to register, or other document which supports your claim.

Please note that sending false information in response to this letter may be a violation of the Military Selective Service Act and may subject the sender to the penalties described above.

Let me stress that unless we hear from you within 15 days of the date of this letter we will send your name to the Department of Justice for investigation and possible prosecution. If you have registered or if you are a person who is not required to register we are sorry for any inconvenience this letter may cause you and we appreciate your help in clearing our records.

Re Buairtel, 8/21/80.

Enclosed for your assistance is one copy of a letter from the subject to the Selective Service System (SSS).

The SSS has referred captioned subject's name to the Department of Justice (DOJ) for possible prosecution as a violator of the Military Selective Service Act (SSA), Title 50, U.S. Code, Section 462(a), in that he has failed to register with the SSS as required by Presidential Proclamation 4771.

The DOJ has requested the FBI to conduct an investigation to determine if the subject is in violation of the SSA.

In conducting this investigation the following investigative procedures should be observed.

1. Consult with the appropriate Assistant U.S. Attorney (AUSA) who is handling SSA violations to determine if he has had or is in contact with the subject. It should be noted that DOJ instructions to the U.S. Attorneys (USA) suggest that a registered letter be sent by the USA to the subject notifying him that unless he registers within a specified amount of time, prosecution will be considered. Enclosed with that letter will be a special registration form which subject may use to comply with the law.

2. In the event the USA is not in possession of a current address for the subject or if, following the letter from the USA, the subject fails to register, institute investigation to locate and interview the subject re his refusal to register.

3. Present the case to the appropriate AUSA for a prosecutive report to FBIHQ for dissemination to the DOJ.

Narrative of Offense:

This investigation was instituted upon the receipt of information dated 6/14/82, from the Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), Washington, D.C., that a person identifying himself as Edward J. Hasbrouck, 74 Elmwood Road, Wellesley, Massachusetts, mailed a letter dated 10/3/81, to the Selective Service System, Washington, D.C. in which he advised that he was born on 1/11/60 and therefore was required to register with Selective Service.

Mr. Hasbrouck advised in that letter that he had no intention of registering with the Selective Service and that he planned to advocate non-registration for other citizens who, by law, were required to register.

On 8/30/82, an attempt by Agents of the Boston Office of the FBI to interview Mr. Hasbrouck, at 2 Alcott Street, Allston, Massachusetts, telephone 783-3025, proved negative.

On 8/31/82, [REDACTED] U.S. Marshal's Office, Hartford, Connecticut, advised SA [REDACTED] that Edward J. Hasbrouck of Wellesley, Massachusetts, DOB 1/11/60 was indicted on 8/10/82 by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of Assault on a Federal Officer. Hasbrouck was arrested by U.S. Marshals after he embraced and refused to release Russell F. Ford, a Wesleyan Student charged with failing to register with the Selective Service. The incident occurred during Ford's arraignment in U.S. District Court on the above charges. Hasbrouck is presently incarcerated in Danbury Federal Prison, Danbury, Connecticut. [REDACTED] advised that pre-trial motions regarding Hasbrouck's case have been scheduled for mid-September and that Hasbrouck had a public defender assigned to represent him. (b)(7)(c)

Investigation on 8/30/82 at the State Department of Public Health, Registry of Vital Records and Statistics, Boston, Massachusetts, revealed that Edward J. Hasbrouck was born on 1/11/60 at Cambridge, Massachusetts. A certified copy of Hasbrouck's birth certificate was obtained.

Agents of the Government of the United States of Amerika, and of the violence for which it stands:

According to Reports in the public press--reports which I have neither reason nor inclination to doubt--you are now preparing to begin prosecuting some men who have not registered for the draft. I call to your attention the irrelevance of any such persecutions.

Draft registration was instituted by President Jimmy Carter's proclamation of 2 July 1980, and continues with the collusion of President Reagan (who has let stand Carter's proclamation), the Congress (which authorized registration and funded Selective Service), and the Supreme Court (which approved registration).

I was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts on 11 January 1960, and, with those other men of my age who you claim as your citizens (subjects) was supposed to register on one of the six days 21-26 July 1980. On 17 July 1980, at a press conference in Chicago, Illinois, I announced my intention not to register and urged others to do likewise. I continued to publicize my non-registration and to advocate non-registration at Post Offices in Chicago, Boston, and Wellesley, Massachusetts throughout the July 1980 and January 1981 mass registrations. Needless to say, I did not then nor have I since registered, and my statements to that effect have been published and broadcast throughout Amerika. I informed Brayton Harris, Ass. Director of the SS, of my intent not to register on the air in the studios of WBEZ radio, Chicago, on 22 July 1980.

The SS, meanwhile, continues to evade the draft. Although legislation and a Presidential commission report for a draft are pending, SS propaganda given to all registrants states that "there are no plans at this time for a draft." A less obvious lie--and therefore a more intimidating one--is the SS claim that non-registrants will be prosecuted. There are nearly a million non-registrants thus far, by SS estimates.
But neither the federal judicial system (now at capacity--40,000 cases/year) nor the federal prisons (also at capacity--25,000 people) will be multiplied twentyfold, nor will they be dedicated exclusively to registration resisters. Knowing this, the SS knows that only a token fraction of those who don't register can or will ever be prosecuted.

You are now preparing for just such token prosecutions of fewer than 200 selected non-registrants. This letter is an expression of my solidarity with all those who may be prosecuted. They are not alone: I shall place myself with them, and I pledge whatever nonviolent action that solidarity may require. In prosecuting any, you prosecute all, and I shall act accordingly.

I expect to be prosecuted for writing this letter. There are numerous constitutional, legal, administrative, and procedural defects in the registration laws, proclamation, and regulations, but I will offer no legal defenses. I do not expect rule-makers to follow their own rules. I have not registered, I have conspired not to, and I have conspired to aid and abet others not to. I owe you no apology. You are not my judges.

25-657700-6

Judgement, in the end, is inherently introspective. I would no more enforce my opinions on you than have you enforce yours on me. I can only hope that you will judge yourselves by the test I apply to myself: Am I acting in the interest of survival? My life is being transformed by the realization that no life on Earth is likely to outlive what would have been my natural lifetime. There will be revolutionary change, or there will be nuclear omnicide.

In the spirit of survival, I urge you to act as I hope I would act in your place: not to use your authority for "better" purposes (i.e. to redirect your violence) but to renounce your authority and organize anarchically.

This is not to say that all draft resisters are anarchists (or pacifists, or communists, or atheists). Nor is it to say that I "advocate" anarchy, chaos, or violence. Anarchy--the absence of authority, the illegitimacy of violence--is a fact, a characteristic of reality. Our lives, in accepting authority, deny their nature, and in so doing have produced a chaotic and violently suicidal world. Realism demands anarchic organization--nonviolent, nonauthoritarian, cooperative, and loving.

Join me. Renounce your authority, throw down your instruments of violence (convert them to creative uses if you can, destroy their potential for violence if you can't), smash the doors of the jails, schools, psychiatric prisons, and military bases, ...Live Free Anarchically.

Yours in Peace,
With Love,
For Revolution,

Edward John Hasbrouck

Agents of the Government of the United States of Amerika, and of the violence for which it stands:

According to Reports in the public press--reports which I have neither reason nor inclination to doubt--you are now preparing to begin prosecuting some men who have not registered for the draft. I call to your attention the irrelevance of any such persecutions.

Draft registration was instituted by President Jimmy Carter's proclamation of 2 July 1980, and continues with the collusion of President Reagan (who has let stand Carter's proclamation), the Congress (which authorized registration and funded Selective Service), and the Supreme Court (which approved registration).

I was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts on 11 January 1960, and, with those other men of my age who you claim as your citizens (subjects) was supposed to register on one of the six days 21-26 July 1980. On 17 July 1980, at a press conference in Chicago, Illinois, I announced my intention not to register and urged others to do likewise. I continued to publicize my non-registration and to advocate non-registration at Post Offices in Chicago, Boston, and Wellesley, Massachusetts throughout the July 1980 and January 1981 mass registrations. Needless to say, I did not then nor have I since registered, and my statements to that effect have been published and broadcast throughout Amerika. I informed Brayton Harris, Ass. Director of the SS, of my intent not to register on the air in the studios of WBEZ radio, Chicago, on 22 July 1980.

The SS, meanwhile, continues to evade the draft. Although legislation and a Presidential commission report for a draft are pending, SS propaganda given to all registrants states that "there are no plans at this time for a draft." A less obvious lie--and therefore a more intimidating one--is the SS claim that non-registrants will be prosecuted. There are nearly a million non-registrants thus far, by SS estimates. But neither the federal judicial system (now at capacity--40,000 cases/year) nor the federal prisons (also at capacity--25,000 people) will be multiplied twentyfold, nor will they be dedicated exclusively to registration resisters. Knowing this, the SS knows that only a token fraction of those who don't register can or will ever be prosecuted.

You are now preparing for just such token prosecutions of fewer than 200 selected non-registrants. This letter is an expression of my solidarity with all those who may be prosecuted. They are not alone: I shall place myself with them, and I pledge whatever nonviolent action that solidarity may require. In prosecuting any, you prosecute all, and I shall act accordingly.

I expect to be prosecuted for writing this letter. There are numerous constitutional, legal, administrative, and procedural defects in the registration laws, proclamation, and regulations, but I will offer no legal defenses. I do not expect rule-makers to follow their own rules. I have not registered, I have conspired not to, and I have conspired to aid and abet others not to. I owe you no apology. You are not my judges.

Judgement, in the end, is inherently introspective. I would no more enforce my opinions on you than have you enforce yours on me. I can only hope that you will judge yourselves by the test I apply to myself: Am I acting in the interest of survival? My life is being transformed by the realization that no life on Earth is likely to outlive what would have been my natural lifetime. There will be revolutionary change, or there will be nuclear omnicide.

In the spirit of survival, I urge you to act as I hope I would act in your place: not to use your authority for "better" purposes (i.e. to redirect your violence) but to renounce your authority and organize anarchically.

This is not to say that all draft resisters are anarchists (or pacifists, or communists, or atheists). Nor is it to say that I "advocate" anarchy, chaos, or violence. Anarchy--the absence of authority, the illegitimacy of violence--is a fact, a characteristic of reality. Our lives, in accepting authority, deny their nature, and in so doing have produced a chaotic and violently suicidal world. Realism demands anarchic organization--nonviolent, nonauthoritarian, cooperative, and loving.

Join me. Renounce your authority, throw down your instruments of violence (convert them to creative uses if you can, destroy their potential for violence if you can't), smash the doors of the jails, schools, psychiatric prisons, and military bases, ...Live Free Anarchically.

Yours in Peace,

With Love,

For Revolution,

First Mass. draft indictment

A federal grand jury yesterday indicted a 22-year-old Wellesley man on a charge of failing to register for the military draft.

The draft-case indictment was the first returned against an individual in Massachusetts since the draft registration was revived. Eleven other men across the country have been indicted on charges of failing to register. Three have been convicted.

The man indicted yesterday, Edward J. Hasbrouck of Elmwood avenue, could not be reached for comment. A woman identifying herself as a cousin of Hasbrouck's said he left Tuesday for Canada. No arraignment date has been set in the case.

The prosecutor in the case, US Atty. William Weld, said he hoped the indictment would serve as a deterrent to other men considering avoiding draft registration. Some 500,000 men nationwide have failed to register for the draft, according to US officials. Approximately 100,000 of these, officials say, are probably members of the military reserves or National Guard.

Conviction can bring a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Hub man indicted in draft dodge

Edward J. Hasbrouck of Boston was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury for failing to register for the draft.

The one-count indictment made Hasbrouck the first Massachusetts man to be charged as a draft resister under the Selective Service Act and a 1980 presidential proclamation.

He was supposed to have registered in July, 1980, a spokesman for the Boston Alliance Against the Registration and the Draft said. It was believed Hasbrouck was 21 or 22 years old.

So far three Americans have been convicted for refusing to sign up for the draft since the Vietnam War; about 13 have been indicted.

Retired Maj. Gen. Thomas Turnage, administrator of the Selective Service System, said in a television interview that about 500,000 men have failed to register, compared to 8.7 million who have.

Failure to register with Selective Service charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Draft resister expects a prison term

By Jonathan Kaufman
Globe Staff

The Massachusetts man indicted last week for failing to register for the draft said yesterday he had written to the government a year ago telling them he wouldn't register.

"I wanted to express my solidarity with the people they [the government] were threatening," Edward Hasbrouck, 22, said in a telephone interview from Pennsylvania, where he was hitchhiking and visiting friends.

No arraignment date has yet been set for his case. Hasbrouck, who has been staying with various friends in Boston, said he will appear when notified by authorities.

"I wanted to make it clear they were not going to succeed in intimidating an entire movement and by threatening a few people."

Hasbrouck, a commercial artist who has been active in the antidraft movement since leaving the University of Chicago in January 1980, said that he expected to be convicted and sent to prison for failing to register.

"My hope at the start was that if enough people didn't register we'd be able to stop reinstatement of the draft," Hasbrouck said. "We've succeeded. My other hope, now, is that we will force the US government in the future to base its policies on the realization that we can't have a draft, that we are not willing to fight their wars."

Approximately 500,000 men or 6 percent of those required to do so have not registered for the draft, according to the Selective Service System.

In August, the government sent out 33,000 letters warning men who had failed to register that they faced possible prosecution. An additional 175,000 warning letters are scheduled to be sent out in the near future. Legislation has also been introduced in Congress that would prevent men who have failed to register from receiving government-backed student loans.

In a statement, Hasbrouck's mother, Marguerite Hasbrouck of Elmwood road in Wellesley, said the government was indicting "active, open and vocal" opponents of draft registration in an attempt to "intimidate those who have not registered or who soon will be due to register."

Under a law passed in the summer of 1960, all men born after Jan. 1, 1960, must register their name, address, Social Security number and phone number with the Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Late registration is also accepted. Approximately 8.7 million men have registered for the draft so far, according to Selective Service figures.

Hasbrouck, who grew up in Wellesley, said he became involved in the antidraft registration movement in part because of political-science courses he took at the University of Chicago.

"I grew up with the idea that democracy meant something along the lines of a town meeting, that people decided things collectively," Hasbrouck said.

"But the essential idea of government in the US does not involve people meeting to decide things. It's a group of people deciding what they want another group to do and then making them do it."

Hasbrouck said he left the University of Chicago in 1960 after three years because he wanted to become more involved in politics.

In August, Hasbrouck was arrested for interfering with a federal marshal in a Hartford court. A friend of Hasbrouck was being charged with failing to register for the draft and during the court proceeding Hasbrouck embraced the man and refused to let go. Hasbrouck was sent briefly to Danbury federal prison in Connecticut when he was unable to meet $15,000 bail. The case, friends of Hasbrouck said yesterday, is still pending.

The US Attorney's Office in Massachusetts is investigating other cases of men who may have failed to register for the draft. US Atty. William Weld said a decision on these cases would be made "at the conclusion of each investigation."

brouck's statement at the Arlington Street Church, scene of anti-war demonstrations over a decade ago.

Hasbrouck was indicted, according to U.S. Atty. William Weld, as a deterrent to other young men considering avoiding draft registration. Conviction can bring a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

In his statement, Hasbrouck denied early reports that he had fled to Canada. "I heard of my indictment yesterday just after beginning a trip to see friends I want to meet with before I am tried," he said through Doherty. Doherty said that Hasbrouck was traveling "in the Midwest" and would return to the Boston area in two weeks to await arraignment.

No date has been set for his arraignment.

Draft resister Edward J. Hasbrouck yesterday issued a statement in absentia claiming that he will eventually return to face charges that he deliberately failed to register for the draft.

The 22-year-old Wellesley man was indicted this week as one of 500,000 young men nationwide who have failed to register for the draft. Eleven other men around the country have been similarly indicted, and three of those convicted.

"The draft is wrong in itself," the Hasbrouck statement said, "and for the militarism, violence and patriarchy it symbolizes."

The statement was read by Will Doherty, 19, of Cambridge, also a self-proclaimed resister who has declined to register for the draft. He read Has-

Draft foe naive but he has a point

You want to tell him, "Look kid, calm down. You'll understand it all, too, in a few more years."

I mean, here's well-heeled Wellesley draft resister Edward J. Hasbrouck, 22, all excited, all ideals, an out-of-sync flashback.

Here he is in baggy corduroys and wire rims, his frizzed-out strawberry blonde shoulder-length locks getting weird looks even on the Boston University campus.

He's espousing non-violent anarchy and proposing some vaguely-conceived alternative system—"one that allows people to develop opportunities without coercion."

He's describing himself as "upper class, white, well-educated, articulate. . ."—this ungrateful recipient of the American good life.

You want to tell him to go wait in bread lines in Poland. Or Siberia maybe. That we're only talking about registering here. There's no draft. No war.

And then you open the paper and read about the 10 percent unemployment, the budget deficit, the billions spent on military equipment like the $2.5 billion M1 tank, which needs a tune-up every 90 miles.

Then you read the latest arms control group study based on Pentagon, CIA and United Nations information.

You find out that there are 3.5 tons of TNT for every man, woman and child on earth—more than a million times the explosive power of the Hiroshima bomb.

You learn that world military costs have risen to $600 billion a year, well over $1 million a minute; that spending per soldier worldwide averages $19,300, while only $380 is spent per school age child for education and that in 32 countries, including this one, more is spent on the war machine than on education and health care combined.

It all gets pretty depressing.

And here's Edward Hasbrouck with his "rainbow of life" pins and his choice buttons talking about how he's ready to go to jail rather than register for the draft.

Here's a young man who spent nearly $10,000 a year of his parent's money at the prestigious University of Chicago.

Now his father, a computer firm manager, is "hurt and angry," by what he has done, Hasbrouck says. His mother understands, but is afraid. And his older brother, a security guard, takes a lot of flak from co-workers who think Edward Hasbrouck is a hippie flake.

Hasbrouck doesn't yet have a wife or mortgage or the champagne tastes that changed the perspective of some former draft and war protesters like Jerry Rubin, who once threw ripped-up dollar bills onto the floor of the New York Stock Exchange and now works for the bullish Wall Street market.

Maybe Hasbrouck will end up there too, or in politics.

But here he is today, telling everyone who'll listen that registering and drafting and fighting are all wrong.

Maybe you want to tell him he's the one who's all wrong.

But then, beneath the frizzed-out hair and the easy answers, maybe he's got a point.

Draft resister learns facts of life in court

By JAMES CONNOLLY

A bid by draft resister Edward J. Hasbrouck and his supporters to turn his federal court arraignment into a forum for the anti-registration movement was abruptly turned back yesterday by a magistrate and a half dozen federal marshals.

Hasbrouck, 22, of Wellesley, appeared for arraignment before U.S. Magistrate Joyce London Alexander as the first Massachusetts man indicted for failing to register under the new draft registration law.

Hasbrouck told Alexander he wanted a "public trial" in a larger courtroom. Alexander said no.

Hasbrouck told Alexander he wanted television cameras present. Again, the answer was negative.

Hasbrouck insisted on raising his left hand rather than his right when sworn in before the court. This time

Alexander yielded, but insisting that Hasbrouck swear to tell the truth.

Hasbrouck did, but added "to the extent the court will permit me."

Hasbrouck, long-haired, bearded and wearing a charcoal suit, said he would only stand up to answer Alexander's questions if she stood as well. Alexander let him sit.

Hasbrouck refused to plead either guilty or innocent, saying he "hasn't done anything." Alexander quickly entered a plea of innocent for him.

But Alexander didn't yield when Hasbrouck invited some of his 25 supporters in the courtroom to make a statement. The magistrate said no.

Four of those supporters started to read "A statement of complicity with Ed Hasbrouck." Alexander nodded to the deputy marshals and the four — including a woman who fell limp and had to be carried — were quickly removed from court.

Protest at hearing for draft resister

By William Doherty
Globe Staff

Four supporters of Wellesley draft resister Edward Hasbrouck were ejected from a federal courtroom in Boston during his arraignment yesterday when they insisted on reading an antiwar statement in unison.

Hasbrouck, 22, who acted as his own lawyer, refused to enter a plea to the indictment charging him with refusing to register with the Selective Service unless his supporters were allowed to speak.

Federal marshals converged on the supporters, two men and two women, and escorted them out of the packed courtroom when they attempted to read the statement aloud. One woman was dragged out feet first when she dropped to the floor.

US District Court Magistrate Joyce London Alexander entered a plea of not guilty on Hasbrouck's behalf and released him on personal recognizance. No trial date was set.

If convicted, he faces five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

■ DRAFT Continued from Page 21

Although Alexander directed him to stand while he spoke to her, Hasbrouck refused. "I think I can speak better sitting down," he said.

When Alexander again ordered him to stand out of respect for the court, Hasbrouck replied: "If you would like to stand, we can both talk standing up."

Alexander ignored the remark and continued with the proceedings and Hasbrouck remained seated.

When asked by the clerk to raise his right hand to take the oath, he said he preferred to raise his left hand instead because he was left handed, evoking laughter from the audience.

Hasbrouck told Alexander her refusal to allow television cameras into the courtroom was a denial of his right to a public trial.

The statement by Hasbrouck's supporters said his indictment was also "an indictment of our work, our beliefs and our feelings against registration, the draft, militarism and war."

Describing themselves as "unindicted coconspirators," said that if Alexander convicts Hasbrouck then she also should convict them. They were released after they were removed from the courtroom.

At a press conference on the steps of the courthouse, Hasbrouck said he was proud of not registering and, although frightened about the prospect of going to jail, felt it was worth it to dramatize his opposition to conscription. Hasbrouck said he wrote to the Selective Service and other government officials notifying them that he did not intend to register.

He refused to enter a plea, Hasbrouck explained, because "I do not think I have done anything for which I owe the government explanation. They owe me an explanation of why I should sign my life over to them to do with whatever they wish."

Denouncing the draft as an attempt to "control the lives and opinions of young people," he said the refusal of young people to register has persuaded the government that reinstitution of the draft is not feasible until the problem of nonregistration is dealt with.

Describing himself a "10th generation American," Hasbrouck said draft protests involve "the fundamental human right of people to control their own lives."

Hasbrouck's mother, Marguerite, who was with him in court, said in a statement she "shared many of his concerns" and was "proud" that "he put himself on the line."

"I do not think war and violence cure anything. I believe people must learn to coexist peacefully and respect each other's inalienable rights," she said.

"It hurts to see people who, like the draft resisters, are trying to help society locked up while repetitive rapists and murderers walk the streets," Mrs. Hasbrouck said.

Noting that her son recently spent five weeks in the federal prison in Danbury, Conn., in connection with another draft protest, she said the prospect of him returning to prison "is much better than thinking of him in a place like El Salvador in the equivalent of a war or under a nuclear bomb."

Claiming Convictions Other Than Federal:

It is permissible to claim a local (state, county or local) conviction if the FBI's investigation significantly contributed to the successful local prosecution. A succinct narrative setting forth the basis for claiming a local conviction must accompany this report. When claiming a conviction other than Federal, enter the word "LOCAL" in the "Conviction-Section" block, disregard the number of conviction counts, but enter the sentence in the appropriate blocks. Enter "LF" in the "In-Jail" block for all life sentences and "CP" for all capital punishment sentences.

Reporting Convictions:

Convictions should not be reported until the sentence has been issued. There are two exceptions to this rule. The conviction information can be submitted by itself if:

1. The subject becomes a fugitive after conviction but prior to sentencing.
2. The subject dies after conviction but prior to sentencing.

An explanation is required in the Remarks section for either of the above exceptions.

Rule 20 Situations:

The field office that obtained the process (normally the office of origin) is the office that should claim the conviction, not the office where the subject enters the plea in cases involving Rule 20 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedures.

Investigative Assistance or Techniques (IATs) Used:

-Since more than one IAT could have contributed to the accomplishment, each IAT must be rated.

-The IAT used must be rated each time an accomplishment is claimed. (For example - if informant information was the basis for a complaint, an arrest, a recovery and a conviction and if separate FD-515s are submitted for each of the aforementioned accomplishments, the "Informant Information" block must be rated on each FD-515 even if it was the same information that contributed to all the accomplishments.)

1st Mass. man convicted of refusing to register

By James Hammond
Globe Staff

A federal jury of five women and seven men deliberated only 15 minutes yesterday before convicting a 22-year-old Wellesley man of refusing to register for the draft.

The sentencing of Edward J. Hasbrouck, formerly of Elmwood road, was set for 9 a.m. Jan. 14 by US District Court Judge David S. Nelson. Hasbrouck, who is believed to be living in Cambridge at present, was released in personal recognizance until sentencing.

Hasbrouck is the first Massachusetts man and the fifth in the nation to be convicted as a draft resister. The penalty can be a jail term of up to five years and a $10,000 fine.

After his conviction, Hasbrouck said that while he was "prepared to go to jail," he planned an appeal. He added that he was hopeful the conviction would be overturned by the higher court.

The whole proceeding against Hasbrouck took less than a day yesterday. The jury was picked just before the noonday recess, and when it returned the government took less than 30 minutes to present its case, calling but six witnesses - four from Selective Service - and offering five exhibits.

Hasbrouck called the whole proceeding "silly" and said it was the federal government that should be on trial. He refused to offer a defense and refused to cross-examine prosecution witnesses or challenge exhibits.

Hasbrouck sat at the the defense table and refused to rise when the court convened. Occasionally, Hasbrouck would get up and walk in his stocking feet to the judge's bench for a conference. While government witnesses testified, Hasbrouck either crossed his legs or rested on the chair's armrests.

The prosecutor, Assistant US Atty. Robert Mueller, said the case was a simple one, that Hasbrouck had a duty to register, and not only wilfully refused to do so but counseled other men not to register.

Mass. draft resister sixth to be convicted

A Wellesley draft resister yesterday became the sixth man in the nation convicted of failing to register with the Selective Service. Three supporters were arrested in a protest after the verdict was announced.

A U.S. District Court jury of seven men and five women, after hearing testimony from six government witnesses, deliberated just 10 minutes before convicting Edward J. Hasbrouck, 22. Hasbrouck faces a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Judge David Nelson set sentencing for Jan. 14 and allowed Hasbrouck to remain free on bail.

Acting as his own attorney, Hasbrouck called the proceedings "ridiculous" and called no defense witnesses.

"My objective is no more to be acquitted than the government's objective is to convict me," he said during a break. "My purpose is to expose this as a hypocrisy and the government's objective is to salvage a failed system."

After the verdict was announced, a smiling Hasbrouck shook hands with the jurors as they left the courtroom and then informed the court he would appeal.

A short time later, federal marshals arrested three of Hasbrouck's backers who chained themselves to a door leading from the courthouse. A spokesman for demonstrators said they were "symbolically arresting the court system."

U.S. Marshal Bernard Stone said it was not clear what the demonstrators would be charged with. They were identified as Elizabeth Davidson, Eric Weinberger and Sean Herlihy.

On December 8, 1982, Special Agent [REDACTED] Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), Boston, Massachusetts, met with Assistant United States Attorney, Robert S. Mueller III, United States Attorney's Office, Boston, Massachusetts, who held a conference with Edward J. Hasbrouck. Present at that meeting was Ruth Raditsky, an associate of subject. At the conference, evidence of United States Government case was displayed to subject. Discussed during the meeting were selection of Jurors, stipulations and proposed jury instructions. Subject pointed out to Special Agent [REDACTED] that the FBI report, submitted by Special Agent [REDACTED] was an error, and that the Registry of Motor Vehicles identification number, S00 25 2300 was incorrectly stated to be his social security account number, when in fact, it was his Massachusetts drivers license number.

DAVID FARRELL

Prosecutor's the hero

Ast. US Atty. Robert Mueller said it all last Wednesday when he told a jury that millions of Americans have made great sacrifices since the birth of the nation two centuries ago to insure that draft registration dodgers such as Edward Hasbrouck of Wellesley get a fair hearing in our courts.

Mueller's observation came during the prosecution of Hasbrouck, who was being tried for his refusal to register with Selective Service. As expected, Hasbrouck, who has been trying his case in the media for the past couple of months, refused to offer any defense and was convicted.

But not before he made a strong effort to get live television coverage of the trial. His idea, of course, was to continue his attack on the draft over the airways. That he would, at the same time, be making a spectacle of himself by parading around the courtroom obviously didn't disturb him.

He also wasn't above the pathetic and somewhat petty ploy of refusing to stand up when US District Judge David S. Nelson entered the courtroom for the start of the proceedings.

Hasbrouck defended that display of ignorance and poor manners by saying that his "conscience" wouldn't allow him to render the court the respect which goes with Nelson's high office. His steady stream of self-serving statements make one wonder why the Justice Department bothers to go after the Hasbroucks. Who would want them? Certainly not the armed services, which are entrusted with the defense of this nation.

The courtroom contrast was striking between Hasbrouck, who said he is "prepared to go to jail" to support his convictions, and Atty. Mueller, who spoke in measured tones about the need to uphold the law.

Mueller's reference to the men and women who have served in the armed forces since the outbreak of the Revolutionary War omitted one interesting point - his own military record.

A native of Philadelphia, Mueller is not well known in this area. He left the Justice Department's staff as chief of the criminal division here.

Weld's staff as chief of the criminal division here.

His resume reveals an extensive and impressive background in criminal law which is surpassed by his outstanding record during 33 months in the US Marine Corps.

He was a rifle platoon commander with the Third Marine Division in Vietnam. His honors include two Navy Commendation Medals, the Vietnam Cross of Gallantry, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart - citations which are reserved for the brave and not the Hasbroucks of the country.

Mueller demonstrated enormous patience with the accused as he went far out of his way to accommodate Hasbrouck and put up with the playpen-like behavior of those who are regularly assembled by draft resister groups to display support for the cause. Mueller and US Atty. Weld wanted to be certain that they gave Hasbrouck no room to appeal the case on the grounds that he did not get a fair trial or was treated in cavalier fashion by the prosecution.

When it was all over, the jury retired briefly and came in with a guilty verdict. Judge Nelson will pass sentence on Jan. 14, and Hasbrouck may get an opportunity to spend some time at Danbury prison trying to persuade his fellow inmates about the evils of Selective Service and the flaws in our judicial system.

The judge, who has a reputation for being lenient, can let Hasbrouck off with an alternate sentence in a school for the retarded or even a suspended term.

US Atty. Weld, who happened to sit next to Hasbrouck's mother throughout the trial, is expected to ask Judge Nelson for a full term when he makes his recommendation next month.

The Justice Dept. wants all US attorneys throughout the country to give priority to the prosecution of similar cases. Justice officials feel that such a policy, if backed by meaningful sentences by federal judges, will bring about much greater compliance with the statute. Hence the growing interest in the Hasbrouck case and its disposition.

Draft resister ordered to do public service

By James Hammond
Globe Staff

A federal judge, saying a man who resisted draft registration "acted out of conscience," ordered him yesterday to perform 1000 hours of public service.

US District Judge David S. Nelson also gave Edward J. Hasbrouck, 22, a six-month, suspended sentence and placed him on two years probation.

Speaking to Hasbrouck, formerly of Wellesley, Nelson said: "Although you have clearly and absolutely acted in defiance of the law, you have acted out of conscience."

After the hearing, Hasbrouck said he hoped to fill his sentence by working against nuclear war, rather than spending time in a hospital or poverty center, as the judge had suggested.

Outside the courtroom, when Hasbrouck was asked his reaction to the sentence, he replied: "I don't know whether I'll be able to satisfy Judge Nelson and the probation office that we share the same idea about what kinds of work that are in the interests of the community.

"It's possible I may end up serving the six-month sentence that was suspended. Six months is a short time in comparison with other sentences that have been imposed thus far and before that ever becomes an issue I am very optimistic that the test will be dismissed by federal courts."

Assistant US Atty. Robert Mueller had recommended that Hasbrouck receive a two-year prison term, describing him as a "self-appointed guardian of the [peace movement] ... who held himself above the law and believed himself to be the law."

"I cannot agree that this offense merits incarceration, unless I wished to make a political statement," Nelson said. "Violent crimes have been dealt with by shorter incarceration."

Nelson directed Hasbrouck to perform community work at a hospital, poverty or senior citizens center during the probationary period.

Hasbrouck is the first in Massachusetts and at least the fourth person nationally convicted of not registering for the draft since registration was reinstated in 1960.

The maximum penalty for refusing to register for the draft is 5 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Nelson denied a request for a stay of sentence pending an appeal.

Hasbrouck was convicted last month of failing to register for the draft, by a jury that deliberated only 15 minutes before returning with a guilty verdict. Hasbrouck refused to offer any deference.

In addressing the court before the sentence was imposed, Hasbrouck told Nelson that "a prison sentence isn't going to rehabilitate me."

Hasbrouck said that even if he were sent to jail he would continue his work in the interest of peace. He said that the only reason he was prosecuted was that he spoke out against the draft.

When Hasbrouck finished, the more than 100 spectators in the courtroom, who included his mother, Marguerite Hasbrouck of Wellesley, broke out in a sustained applause.

Nelson made no attempt to curb the applause.

It is permissible to claim a local (state, county or local) conviction if the FBI's investigation significantly contributed to the successful local prosecution. When claiming a conviction other than Federal, enter the word "LOCAL" in the "Conviction-Section" block, disregard the number of conviction counts, but enter the sentence in the appropriate blocks. Enter "LF" in the "In-Jail" block for all life sentences and "CP" for all capital punishment sentences.

Reporting Convictions:

Convictions should not be reported until the sentence has been issued. There are two exceptions to this rule. The conviction information can be submitted by itself if:

- 2. The subject dies after conviction but prior to sentencing.

An explanation is required in the Remarks section for either of the above exceptions.

Rule 20 Situations:

The field office that obtained the process (normally the office of origin) is the office that should claim the conviction, not the office where the subject enters the plea in cases involving Rule 20 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedures.

Investigative Assistance or Techniques (IATs) Used:

- Since more than one IAT could have contributed to the accomplishment, each IAT must be rated.
- The IAT used must be rated each time an accomplishment is claimed. (For example - if informant information was the basis for a complaint, an arrest, a recovery and a conviction and if separate FD-515s are submitted for each of the aforementioned accomplishments, the "Informant Information" block must be rated on each FD-515 even if it was the same information that contributed to all the accomplishments.)

Court pasted with antidraft stickers

Red antidraft stickers were pasted throughout the courtroom of US District Court Magistrate Robert DeGiacomo in Boston Monday just before he was about to preside at the arraignment of three draft protesters who had chained themselves to a courthouse door on Jan. 14.

During a scuffle which followed when several spectators objected to being searched by federal marshals, two persons, were arrested and charged with assaulting a US deputy marshal. Charged were: Elizabeth Davidson, 26, of Cambridge and Edward Hasbrouck, 22, of Wellesley, who last month became the first Massachusetts man convicted of failing to register for the military draft. He received a six-month suspended sentence Jan. 14 for refusing to register.

Hasbrouck and Davidson were released in $2500 personal bond for a probable cause hearing Feb. 14.

Hasbrouck was in court to attend the arraignment of Davidson and two others who were accused of violating federal regulations by chaining themselves to one of the courthouse doors on Jan. 14, the day Hasbrouck was sentenced.

The anti-draft stickers were pasted on DeGiacomo's bench, on the jury box, the witness stand and spectators' benches.

Jury indicts draft protester in court hassle

A Wellesley draft protester was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on a charge of forcibly resisting a US marshal.

Edward J. Hasbrouck, 23, received a suspended six-month sentence Jan. 14 after he was convicted of refusing to register for the draft. But another incident occurred Jan. 24 in the courtroom of US District Court Magistrate Robert DeGiacomo in Boston where Hasbrouck was a spectator awaiting the arraignment of three of his supporters who had allegedly chained themselves to the door of the courthouse.

When the marshals discovered red antidraft stickers pasted throughout the courtroom, the room was sealed and the marshals began searching the spectators.

According to the indictment, Hasbrouck was "bodily removed" from the courtroom and, while physically restrained by Deputy Marshal John J. Walsh Jr. and others, attempted to move back toward the courtroom by "lunging, shoving and pushing" Walsh.

The case was assigned to Chief Judge Andrew A. Caffrey for trial. The charge carries a maximum sentence of three years in prison and $5000 fine.

Also indicted yesterday in connection with the same incident was Elizabeth Ann Davidson, 27, of Cambridge. She was accused of assaulting a marshal and a Federal Protective police officer.

2 Found innocent of assaulting 2 US marshals

Edward J. Hasbrouck, 23, convicted draft resister; and Elizabeth Ann Davidson, 27, both of Cambridge, were found innocent Monday night of assault and battery on two US marshals by a US District Court jury.

Hasbrouck and Davidson were arrested by federal marshals January 24 after being physically removed from a courtroom in the McCormack federal court building.

Davidson and two friends were scheduled to be arraigned on charges lodged when they chained themselves to the doors of the building after Hasbrouck's conviction in December 15.

Marshals had ordered those in the courtroom into the corridor to be searched before being allowed back in after a number of stickers reading "Resist the draft, refuse to register, you won't be alone." were found pasted throughout the courtroom.

The marshals charged that Hasbrouck tried to flee the building and that Davidson threatened to punch an officer and jumped on the back of another. Both denied the charges.

The jury returned the innocent verdicts after about four hours of deliberation following three days of testimony.

Hasbrouck, on probation stemming from his draft-resisting conviction, said yesterday the most recent trial was part of a government attempt to harass him and his friends for encouraging others to resist draft registration.

Draft resister jilted for violating parole

A DRAFT resister who refused to perform court-ordered volunteer work was dragged away by federal marshals yesterday after he was sentenced to six months in prison for violating terms of his parole.

Edward J. Hasbrouck, 23, of Wellesley, collapsed to the floor when U.S. District Judge David S. Nelson said he was revoking his parole and ordering him to prison.

"When you first came before me I believed you, but I don't believe you anymore," Nelson said. "You lied when you said you'd perform public service and you're lying now."

Nelson ordered Hasbrouck taken to prison "not next week and not tomorrow but right now, this minute."

Hasbrouck was sentenced to six months in jail in January for failing to register for the draft. However, Nelson suspended the sentence and ordered Hasbrouck to perform 1,000 hours of public service.

When Hasbrouck's proposal to work for anti-nuclear groups was rejected, he refused to submit another proposal.

Draft resister balks at work, is jailed

By William Doherty
Globe Staff

Draft resister Edward J. Hasbrouck was dragged away to prison by federal marshals for a six-month term after a judge ruled yesterday that he violated his probation by refusing to perform acceptable community work.

Hasbrouck, 23, of Cambridge, maintained that his work in the peace movement should be accepted as "community service." He rejected working in a hospital or similar chores.

When the judge ordered him jailed immediately, Hasbrouck went limp in the courtroom. Marshals handcuffed him and dragged him out by the hands and feet as a courtroom full of supporters sang, "Peace is Flowing Like a River."

Last December a jury convicted Hasbrouck of refusing to register for the draft. At the time US District Judge David S. Nelson gave him a suspended six-month sentence and two years probation and required him to perform 1000 hours of unpaid community service work.

Hasbrouck signed a statement at that time agreeing to perform community work acceptable to the judge and the probation department.

"I believed in you then. I don't believe in you now. You lied to me then and you are lying to me now," Judge Nelson said.

At a court hearing Oct. 11, Hasbrouck said the judge's definition of community work "is the same slavery as the draft. I can no more submit to it than I can submit to the draft." Judge Nelson replied: "What you are saying is garbage. It is not true."

Hasbrouck acted as his own lawyer yesterday and remained seated while he spoke to the judge. He said Nelson was in effect asking him to "make a symbolic political gesture of acquiescence," which Hasbrouck said he refused to do.

He told the judge he "would jump at the chance to help dismantle nuclear weapons" if Nelson would accept that as community service.

Hasbrouck is the only Massachusetts man charged with refusing to register since registration was reinstated. He was taken to the Lawrence House of Correction to serve the six-months sentence.

The judge rejected a request to postpone the sentence pending outcome of an appeal.
